'Vices: A Love Story'

Theatre Aspen premiered its final summer production on Thursday, and the combination of stellar dancing, top-notch singing, catchy tunes, a live band and comedic images projected onto a screen on the back of the stage are sure to make musical lovers fall in love with 'Vices.'

Dubbed 'American Idol meets 'So You Think You Can Dance'' by Theatre Aspen Artistic Director Paige Price, the roughly hour-long show features four singers and a dance couple. Through just music and dance, the show explores the distractions and wrong turns that threaten to destroy the dancers' happiness as a couple.

Catch the show Friday through Sunday, July 29-31, at the new Hurst Theatre in Rio Grande Park, at 7:30 p.m. Or catch it sometime before its closing date on Aug. 20. ## Red Brick Art Auction and Festival

The Red Brick Center for the Arts will host its 10th annual art auction and festival this Saturday, July 30, from 1-3 p.m. The event is the Red Brick's biggest fundraiser of the year, and features a silent auction with more than 100 pieces of art and 100 business items; live artist demonstrations; lunch by Tim Handley Catering; performances by Hudson Reed Ensemble, Aspen Tango-Salsa-Zumba, and the Rock 'n' Roll Academy; live music by Smuggler Mountain Boys; and sidewalk chalk art, face painting, and clay sculpting for the kids.

For more info, visit www.aspenart.org [3], or call the Red Brick at 429-2777.
